

2002 Child Passengers Killed While Riding With Drivers With Illegal BAC Levels

"CDC analyzed data from the Fatality Analysis Reporting System (FARS) of the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA). This report summarizes the results of that analysis, which indicate that approximately one fourth of all traffic deaths among children aged less than 15 years involved alcohol and that in nearly two thirds of passenger deaths involving a legally drunk driver, the child was in the car driven by the legally drunk driver." -

Being the natural skeptics that we are, we decided to analyze the data ourselves. So we took a look at all the cases in the year 2002 where FARS lists at least one drunk driver and for which there was at least one passenger under the age of 15 who had died. The following is our results. Cases highlighted in red are cases where there is no proof that a driver was drunk.

- Total number of children passengers killed under the age of 15 = 264.
- Total number of children passengers killed riding with the drivers with illegal BAC levels = 79 = 29.92% of 264.
- Total number of children passengers killed where there is no proof of a drunk driver = 128 = 48.48% of 264.
- Total number of children passengers killed by other drivers with illegal BAC levels = 57 = 21.59% of 264.

- Total number of drivers with illegal BAC levels in fatal accidents where a child under the age of 15 was killed = 72
- Percent of all drivers involved in fatal accidents that had illegal BAC levels and resulted in the death of a child = 0.17%
- Total number of drivers in these cases with BAC levels of .08/.09 = 8
- Percent of all drivers involved in fatal accidents that had BAC levels .08/.09 that resulted in the death of a child = 0.018%

Conclusion: Drivers with BAC levels of .08/.09 do not pose a significant threat to children to justify the draconian punishments being recommended by MADD.
